AT THIS LIBRARY...

You can take home a craft kit, get your boating license, practice the GRE, finish your high school education with other adults, discover your family history, watch a Disney movie with your children, create a science experiment, build a resume, join a book club, meet Santa & the Easter Bunny, take home an audiobook, meet a local artist...

Thank you, Friends!

Each year, our Friends of McIver's Grant organization matches a state grant that lets us purchase all technology in the library: 38 computer stations, wireless printing, copying, and presentation technology. We literally wouldn't be able to work without their support!

DID YOU KNOW?

Your favorite Kid's Zone event is now online! Join our Facebook page each Tuesday for Storytime—a great alternative if you and your young ones aren't able to make it that week. Don't worry, though: you can still swing by the library afterwards to take home a craft based on that week's book.

Do You McIver's? Want to Do More?

There are so many great ways to show your love!

- Do you have a hobby, interest or passion? Bring it to the library! We're the perfect partner to bring people together and build models/LARP/design clothes/swap recipes/meditate/discuss French philosophers/develop new colors/practice a language....
- Join our Friends group! They plan events, host book sales, decorate the library and generate community support.
- Those books don't shelve themselvesand our small but mighty army of volunteers can tell you that's the truth! Consider stopping in weekly, monthly, even annually for our inventory and help us keep the shelves in tip-top shape.
- Use us; it's why we're here. Next time you're at Amazon (Don't worry, we love Amazon, too), consider checking if that book is free at your library. If not, we can always get it for you. When you're looking for meeting space for your non-profit or room rental for that next get together, please consider us first. After all, this is your library.
